French Ambassador Reports

ESSEN, Jan. 15.—The German mine directors notified the French coal commission today that they must refuse to resume deliveries of coal on the reparations count even in return for cash payments on the grounds that they were in receipt of an order from the German federal coal commission forbidding such action.

The refusal was contained in reply to a written order from General Deny, which was delivered individually to the directors ordering each to resume deliveries in accordance with the reparations program.

The mine directors commission in delivering their reply at a conference with the coal commission today called attention to the fact that the agreement reached on Saturday for resumption of deliveries for cash had been made with the reservation that it would not stand in case the federal commissioner ordered otherwise, which he now has done.

DUESSELDORF, Jan. 15.—France's answer to the great mine owners' refusal to deliver coal on any terms was to extend the zone of occupation, intended originally to cover only the Ruhr region. The new line established by General Legoutte's forces is from fifteen to twenty kilometers further eastward, coming to the edge of the great industrial city of Dortmund.

ESSEN, Jan. 15.—Because of the change of front by the coal magnates and the repudiation of their agreement to resume coal deliveries the French today re-enforced the occupation movement. Troops and tanks are moving up from the old zone and the ring around Essen was tightened.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The state department today that five divisions comprising a total of 45,000 men would take part in the new movement "to insure control over the Ruhr district" as a result of the German government's order stopping coal deliveries.

No comment was forthcoming regarding the troops' movement from the state department, which was given the French communique for its information.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—Regarding the arrival of the French at Bochum, the Lokal Anzeiger says all work was immediately stopped and excitement and confusion prevailed. The communists, it adds, began distributing leaflets advocating war with France and demanding the resignation of Chancellor Cuno.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The rupture between the French commissioner of control in Essen and the German industrialists was complete, says a dispatch to the Evening News from Essen today. Military penalties more severe and extreme than those contemplated yesterday are now being put into effect it adds, and the advance into Germany has centered upon an even greater stage.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—The German government, says a Havas dispatch from Essen this afternoon, has sent instructions to the German industrialists not to co-operate with France in deliveries of coal.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—It seemed certain today that Germany would be declared in default for her 1922 deliveries of merchandise at a meeting of the reparations commission tomorrow.

SOUTH CUT BANK TEXAS BOUNDARY

Third Decision Handed Down
In Dispute on Texas-
Oklahoma Line

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The south cut bank of the Red river was made the boundary line between Texas and Oklahoma by order of the supreme court in its decision on the famous case today.

The decision is a compromise between the contentions of the United States and Texas. The contest centered on the claim that the bluff south of the river was the real boundary, which claim was disputed by Texas. The action of the court determines the rule that will be followed in determining the boundary.

Justice M. Reynolds submitted a dissenting opinion. This decision is the third ruling by the supreme court in the boundary dispute. It first came up in 1918, following the discovery of oil. In April, 1921, it was ruled that the south bank was the boundary between the two states. The second ruling was made in May, 1922.

The court announced that a committee of three men would be appointed to locate the boundary. The court reserved jurisdiction over the work of the committee to see that the line is run according to the court's instructions as to what constituted the south bank.

The decision was the third rendered by the supreme court in the boundary dispute dating back to 1918, when oil was discovered in the big bend of the Red River.

Contempt Charges Confront Police at Oklahoma City

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 15.—W. J. Clark, former chief of police and three members of the present police force were to face trial in United States district court here today on a charge of criminal contempt in connection with seizure of a quantity of whiskey in two freight cars during Governor J. C. Walton's inaugural celebration.

Rock Island railroad officials also say the officers interfered with an interstate commerce shipment by attaching the cars while they were in transit. The whiskey was consigned from a Frankfort, Ky., distillery to a drug store at Waco, Texas.

Mrs. Nagle Gets Appointment

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 15.—Mrs. P. S. Nagle of Kingfisher was appointed today by Gov. J. C. Walton as a member of the state board of affairs. Her commission will be sent to the senate today for confirmation.

FOUR MORE ADDED TO ROBERTSON CLEMENCY

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 15.—Further addition to former Governor J. B. Robertson's "eleventh hour clemency lists" came to light today with the filing of four pardons in the secretary of state's office. Among the beneficiaries were two convicts serving life sentences for murder.

Those to whom paroles were granted and their sentences are: Aaron Pryor, convicted of murder in Wagoner county, sentenced to life imprisonment; W. A. Borah, convicted of murder in Atoka county and sentenced to life; Joe Parks, convicted of criminal assault in Pontotoc county and sentenced to eight years; and Clarence Hendrix, convicted of larceny in Ellis county and sentenced to five years.

Investigation in Masked Band
Operations to Last Twelve Days.

(By the Associated Press)

BASTROP, La., Jan. 15.—Seventy witnesses remained on the list to be examined when the second week of testimony taking begins in the open hearing inquiries into the depredations in Morehouse parish, charged to hooded and masked bands.

Predictions that approximately twelve court days would be required to complete the record were made by George Sethgion, who spoke for the forces of the state attorney general, who is directing the inquiry.

Hugo Davenport, who some witnesses have testified was declared the brains of the anti-law movement in Mer Rouge was on the list of eighteen witnesses made public today.

"Jay" Jones was also on the list summoned to report today. The nature of Jones' testimony was not announced but it was expected it would be of material importance. Others in the list included W. L. Fugh, named as sponsor for one of three Mer Rouge citizens given "moving orders."

PARTY OUT FOR ATKINS BODIES

Reward Offered for Bodies of Four Persons Drowned
Saturday.

(By the Associated Press)

KEY WEST, Fla., Jan. 15.—Efforts were renewed today following the fruitless attempts yesterday by water and air to recover the bodies of E. J. Atkins, Jr., his two children, Edwin III, and David Atkins, of New York, and Miss Grace McDonald who perished when the seaplane Columbus was wrecked and sunk in the ocean twenty-one miles northwest of Havana Saturday afternoon.

The five survivors, who were rescued by the ferry boat, Henry M. Flagler, which was within less than a mile of the spot where the plane hit the sea, are reported today beyond all danger with the exception of Mrs. E. F. Atkins, Jr., who is suffering from exposure. Physicians fear that pneumonia may set in and are as yet undecided over her condition, they assert.

All of the survivors today are out of the hospital, it was learned. The search was conducted yesterday until darkness forced abandonment. With the offer of a reward of $4,000 for the recovery of the bodies by Robert Atkins, brother of E. F. Atkins, Jr., efforts were redoubled today by searching parties.

Mr. Atkins has chartered the ferry steamer Joseph R. Parrot and is conducting a personal search of the gulf stream in the neighborhood where the seaplane descended by forced landing.

CIVIL CASES UP FOR HEARING IN DISTRICT COURT

Following on the heels of the swinging of the grand jury into session district judge J. W. Bollen on the bench rounded into shape late Monday morning and prepared for the fifteen-day session.

Jury selection occupied most of the morning before the case of Jas. H. Wood, administrator vs. A. H. Chapman, suit on debt, was brought before the court.

M. L. Hankins of Shawnee, representing the firm of Staand, Wahl & Ennis of Shawnee was the only out-of-town attorney represented in the case.

Jurors summoned for grand jury service were ordered to report for district court session.

ATTENTION DEMOLAYS.

There will be a short business session of the Demolays Tuesday, January 16th beginning at 7:15 sharp. There will be no initiation this meeting.

DEAD BANDIT IS FOUND; BELIEVED IN MINT ROBBERY

Body Found in Garage in Denver; Believed Dead
for Several Days.

OTHER CLUES FOUND

Chicago Millionaire Gambler
Under Arrest for Part in Denver Robbery.

(By the Associated Press)

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 15.—The body of the bandit found in a stolen car in the exclusive Capitol Hill residence section of the city, last night, was that of a man, instantly killed by one of the mint guards, it was ascertained today. It was identified as that of L. T. Rose, who was shot on the running board of the car as it sped away.

DENVER, Jan. 15.—The daring bandit who stood upon the running board of an automobile of the men who robbed a federal reserve bank truck of $200,000 in front of the Denver mint on December 18 last, and sped away amidst a rain of bullets from mint guards, paid with his life.

Deserted by his pals the body of the dead robber—believed to be the leader of the band—was found last night in a private garage in the fashionable capitol hill residence district.

A gapping wound near the bandit's heart told the story, in his pocket was a large caliber revolver while a high powered rifle and pump shotgun were found in the car. The man, whose clothing and hands bore evidence that he was not used to manual labor, rented the garage about six weeks before the mint robbery occurred. When the new tenant did not pay his rent, the owners and Frank W. McGee, a plumber with a shop nearby, who had become suspicious, investigated.

The dead bandit was found stretched out in the front seat of the machine. He was frozen and an overcoat had been thrown over him. Police believe the bandit's home was in Chicago, eight shells to fit the revolver in his pocket, were found in his coat. Five men's caps, from which the signs of the makers had been torn out, were found in the bandit's car nearby.

The automobile had been stolen from Butler, Colo., on October last. The dead man was described as being thirty-five years old, short and heavy set.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—Daniel Culhane, who said he was a St. Louis millionaire gambler and otherwise was described as a member of Chicago's million dollar gambling syndicate, was under arrest here today in connection with the robbery in front of the Denver mint last December.

Culhane's arrest was reported at approximately the same time the body of a man believed to have been the leader of the mint robber gang, was found at Denver.

After hours of questioning detectives said Culhane denied knowledge of the Denver robbery.

MEXICO ORDERS APOSTLE LEAVE

Delegate Violates Federal Constitution by Conducting
Open Air Service.

(By the Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 15.—Monsignor Ernesto Filippi, the apostolic delegate in Mexico, was ready today to leave the country tomorrow or Wednesday in compliance with President Obregon's order expelling him for participating in an outdoor religious ceremony held last Thursday at Cerro El Cubilete in alleged violation of the federal constitution.

Monsignor Filippi's personal effects are packed and arrangements have been made for his transfer to Laredo, Texas.

It was considered possible, but not probable, that diplomatic protests by Catholic nations represented here might bring modification of the order, which now is thought would be extended to include other foreign members of the clergy who took part in the services.

The newspapers learned last evening that certain diplomatic calls on Foreign Secretary Pani today with a view to registering a formal protest. At a late hour last night, Count Nani De Moccenigo, the Italian minister, was without instruction from his government as to whether he should protest.

From Laredo Monsignor Filippi will go to New York and Washington, waiting orders from Rome in the latter city.

The arch-bishop is alleged to have officiated at the laying of the corner stone of a religious monument. The constitution forbids the holding of open air religious services or processions, and the federal authorities have interpreted last Thursday's services as coming within the meaning of the clause.

Forum Meeting of Chamber Commerce Holds Many Plans

Much interest has been manifested in the meeting of the Forum, or membership of the Chamber of Commerce, at the city hall Tuesday evening at 7:30, according to Ralph Waner, secretary. The speakers, he insists, are loaded with barrels of oratory and expect to let it float out in brilliant metaphors.

Several things are to be considered among which is the extension of the Ada water works, the construction of a bridge across the Canadian at Byng and other matters affecting the future of the city.

BOLEN INSTRUCTS SELECTED TWELVE TO PROBE POINTS

Instruction Points Out Seven
Matters of Investigation
by Grand Jury.

WARNING TO LOBBYISTS

Election and Registration Law
Violations Up for Grand Jury Probe.

At 9:45 this morning, the grand jury, called to investigate conditions in Pontotoc county went into chamber session, with the instruction of District Judge J. W. Bolen to weigh the evidence brought before them.

Seven specific matters were brought before the grand jury in the instruction of Judge Bolen, these dealing with: alleged violation of election laws; violation of registration rights; probing of affairs of city officials in alleged promises of minor offices; flagrant violation of prohibition laws; increased larceny violations in the county; libel and slander conditions; investigation of public officers.

Specific warning was issued by Judge Bolen against lobbying. Bolen declared that any party attempting to bring outside influence to bear on matters before the jury would suffer at the hands of the court.

Witnesses to appear before the grand jury have been summoned through regular channels. Parties not summoned as witnesses, but desiring to impart information on matters under investigation may do so at the will of the foreman of the grand jury upon application.

Following is Bolen's order to the grand jury:

Charge to Grand Jury:
Gentlemen of the Grand Jury:

You have been selected from the body of the county to inquire into all offenses committed against the laws of the State of Oklahoma in Pontotoc County. You were selected on account of your fitness for the performance of this duty, and you occupy a very important office, and you should approach the duties thereof with consideration and solemnity. It is a serious thing to turn an indictment against a citizen of our commonwealth and should not be done except in cases where the evidence amply justify an indictment.

You are the representatives of the law and the protectors thereof, and in your deliberation you should be conscious of the fact that the law demands nothing but exact justice, and when you have met that demand your duty has been well performed. Society and the citizenship of the County may become inflamed and the citizenship divided up into groups by political turmoil and contests, but this spirit has no place in the courthouse or in the grand jury room, and you are especially cautioned to be exceedingly careful that all your actions are governed by the law and the evidence introduced before you and that all other influences be subdued and cast aside.

It becomes your duty to inquire into the violation of all laws of this state, but I desire to briefly call your attention to a few violations that I am impressed needs special consideration in this county.

Under our government sovereignty is vested in the people; sovereignty means the right to rule, and our only expression of sovereignty is at the ballot box, and the only protection to our much cherished liberty is the right of ballot and a resort to arms, and being a Nation of peace the right of ballot is therefore sacred and should be protected. The law has thrown many safe guards around our right to vote and if any of those safe guards have been violated the violator should be called to the bar of Justice.

Campaign Expense in District Judge Race.

It has been called to my attention that excessive amount of money was used in the recent primary campaign, especially in the district judges race. The law limits this expenditure to $500.00 and declares it a violation of law for the candidate on his own behalf or through his friends or by a campaign committee to knowingly spend more than that amount, and it has been brought to my attention that through the organization of a campaign committee and through friends that an amount of money far in excess of the $500.00 was expended.

JIM HARRIS.

The Chickasha Star (Republican) is evidently not much of an admirer of Jim Harris, national committeeman of the Oklahoma division of the g. o. p. In a recent issue it commented thusly:

"Jim Harris is busy at Oklahoma City trying to land his brother a place on the State Board of Public Affairs. Jim says that he has been promised the place. Some of the Walton democrats do not enjoy having the republican national committeeman dictate the patronage under a democratic governor and are putting up a mighty stiff fight. And the republicans who do not like the idea either are preparing to hold Jim's brother, Bill, up in the senate if he is nominated. And other republicans are preparing to get Jim's scalp two years from now if he wants to succeed himself as National committeeman. One thing is certain, Harris cannot name his brother as a member of the State Board of Affairs and remain National committeeman of the republican party in Oklahoma. The republicans of Oklahoma will not stand for it."

Luther Harrison in an editorial in the Holdenville Democrat reviewing the past history of governors of Oklahoma call attention to the fact that each of the four since statehood was inducted into office amid the plaudits of the citizens of the state, hailed as a leader who was destined to accomplish much, but that each was almost ignored as he left office. However, that is just another demonstration of a phase of human nature to expect more of a man than he can put through and feel disappointed when he fails. This may be due to some extent to the men themselves who as candidates map out an elaborate program in order to catch the voters although it is humanly impossible to do all they promise. Haskell is the only governor who sought to come back in politics after his term expired. He made the race against Robert L. Owen for the senate and was badly beaten, although at statehood he was hailed as the greatest leader in the state and gave the people a very good administration. Apparently the governor's office is the cemetery for further hopes of political leadership.

A well informed Wall Street man estimates that the American public was fleeced out of not less than $400,000,000 last year by vendors of fake stocks. This man has been in Wall street for 43 years and has used every possible means of warning the public against these grafters, but he says he believes there are more suckers now than ever before. When an oily tongued salesman gets hold of a man he usually forgets all about the warnings and experiences of his neighbors. He wants to get rich quick and the grafter assures him that his only aim in life is to make others rich and the poor fish swallows the bait. The human sucker is not as wise as the one that swims in the creek, for the latter seldom bites at anything.

Public ownership is a pretty theory, since its object is to save the profits for the public or else return a dividend at intervals. However, it seldom works out in practice. In the great majority of cases the management is placed in the hands of men incompetent to properly discharge the duties, their appointments being due to their activity in favor of some winning candidate at an election and who cares little for interests of the public they serve. Generally the tax payers are called on to make up deficits which occur through bad management instead of having their taxes lowered through the profits made. It is a rare exception to the general rule when public business is managed with even the approximate efficiency of private business.

At one time there was a law under which any convict applying for a pardon or parole from the penitentiary had to give 30 days notice of such intention by publication in a newspaper published in his home county. This was for the purpose of giving any opposed to clemency a chance to enter a protest and present reasons why he should not be set at liberty. Either the law has been changed or else ignored, for these notices are no longer run and generally the first notice the public has of any action in a case is the announcement that the governor has turned him loose. The plan followed for sometime past has been to keep the public in the dark while the powers with a pull were getting in their work.

Robert L. Owen has announced for another term as senator. No other aspirant has yet declared himself, but it is not likely Owen will get another term without a scrap. He has won three contests and it remains to be seen if there is a politician in the state who can get his goat this time. They always make it a point of the campaign that Owen is an aristocrat, but this has never yet materially affected the issue of the election. This political game moves rapidly in Oklahoma, however, and no one can predict what the temper of the people will be eighteen months hence.

When a person forms a habit of criticizing everything that comes along his words have very little weight even when they are true and would carry much weight if uttered by some one less inclined to fault finding.

OUR RHINE SOLDIERS ARE GRIEVED AT THE ORDER TO COME HOME

The Forum of the Press

No Tenderness for Germany

(Fort Worth Star Telegram)

It is necessary to keep in mind, at a time when there is condemnation of the course which France has taken in occupying the Ruhr, that so far as the United States is concerned this condemnation in no way includes any feeling of friendliness for Germany.

The crime which Germany committed in bringing the World War upon us can never be condoned or forgotten. Germany should be made pay to the very limit of her power to pay for the damage done during the war. She could never atone for the crime itself. No amount of payment could reimburse France for what she has suffered, to say nothing of suffering by the German people could atone for German's crime.

Nobody can accuse Great Britain, with 1,200,000 of her sons sleeping in soldiers' graves, and more than 2,000,000 wounded, as results of Germany's crime, of feeling any friendliness toward Germany or any tenderness toward her. It required much subtle negotiation to bring Great Britain to the point where she found it necessary to part company with France in the matter of measures to be employed to collect reparations. Rather than take such a course, the former Prime Minister, Mr. Lloyd George, agreed to the fixing of the amount of reparations at a sum which he knew to be impossible of payment and everything that has occurred since then has grown naturally out of that agreement. In parting company with France with respect to her present policy, Great Britain was prompted by a recognition that this course can not succeed in obtaining more reparations from Germany, but that on the contrary it is calculated to make matters worse. In expressing American disapproval of the course France has taken, Secretary of State Hughes was prompted by a recognition of the same fact.

But let it be clearly understood that there is no disposition on the part of our Government, any more than there is a disposition on the part of Great Britain to suspend the sentence against Germany. What is desired is to collect from Germany the very limit of her capacity to pay. The American proposal to have an international commission make a thorough investigation of Germany's resources and ability has for its purpose to insure that a maximum of payment shall be obtained. Reparations on paper do not amount to anything. Reparations that are paid in hand are what is wanted.

National Thrift Week

(End Event)

The birthday of Benjamin Franklin, author of Poor Richard's Almanac, comes January 17, and this date is made the opening day for the observance of National Thrift Week. Franklin was a splendid example of what thrift can do. He walked the streets of Philadelphia almost penniless as he was looking for work, yet soon rose to a foremost position in American life, and thrift was what gave him his start. Unless one has an extraordinary run of hard luck he can usually make good in life if he steadily practices thrift. Small beginnings grow to large results, and the saving habit is the foundation of success. Older people can be taught thrift by constant urging. If some solicitor for a bank should persistently ask them to start a savings account, many people might be led to do so who otherwise would never save a cent. But when you start in with children at an early age, it is much easier to help them acquire this habit.

It should be just as much a part of a child's life to earn some money and save a reasonable portion of it, as to go to school. The boy who has acquired the thrift habit will get along somehow, even if he hasn't much learning. But the educated spendthrift comes to grief. The gradual growth of a savings deposit appeals to children's imagination, and they can be made to take just as much pleasure in a bank book as in spending their money for candy. It is not of course desirable to encourage them to acquire stingy habits, but they should be taught that there is a time to save and a time to spend, and that some portion out of every week's earnings ought to go into their permanent capital.

Chimes of Potsdam Church Brings Out Increase in Salary

POTSDAM.—"Always be honest and upright." So runs a familiar old German song the music of which chimes regularly from the lofty tower of the famous Garrison church of Potsdam. Away down below, in the vaults of the edifice, rest the bodies of Frederick the Great, and his father Frederick William I. The organist who plays these chimes was forced recently by hard times to apply for an increase in wages. When his application came before the city council it met with opposition from the Communist aldermen because of their political objections to the selections played on the bells. Not only, they maintained, was "Always Be Honest and Upright" being chimed forth, but the organist even went so far as to play "Deutschland Uber Alles" on national holidays. The bourgeois representatives overruled these objections in favor of the organist expressing themselves ready to live up to the "honest and upright" sentiment in their dealings with their employees.

The Garrison church was built by Frederick William I, the first king of Prussia, and silencing of its chimes would mean almost as great a hardship in the lives of Potsdam's natives as would the closing of the gates to Sans Souci.

REDUCTION GRANTED IN NEW INSURANCE RATING

The new fire insurance rates, which have just been received in the city, give Ada a substantial reduction in the fire insurance rates of both on business houses and residences. Not all places are affected by the change, and in a few instances raises have been added. The classification of the city is raised from eighth to seventh, which puts Ada in a class with other cities of about the same size.

Who Gets the Most for His Money?

The fellow who buys haphazard—or the chap who puts his every-day purchasing on a business basis?

The latter of course. He is the one who reads the advertisements and discovers just where he can buy what he wants. He is the one who realizes the great value of advertising when it comes to the important business of spending his hard-earned money.

The well-informed shopper always has the advantage when it comes to stretching dollars. And you can't possibly be up-to-date on the shopping news unless you make a practice of reading the advertisements.

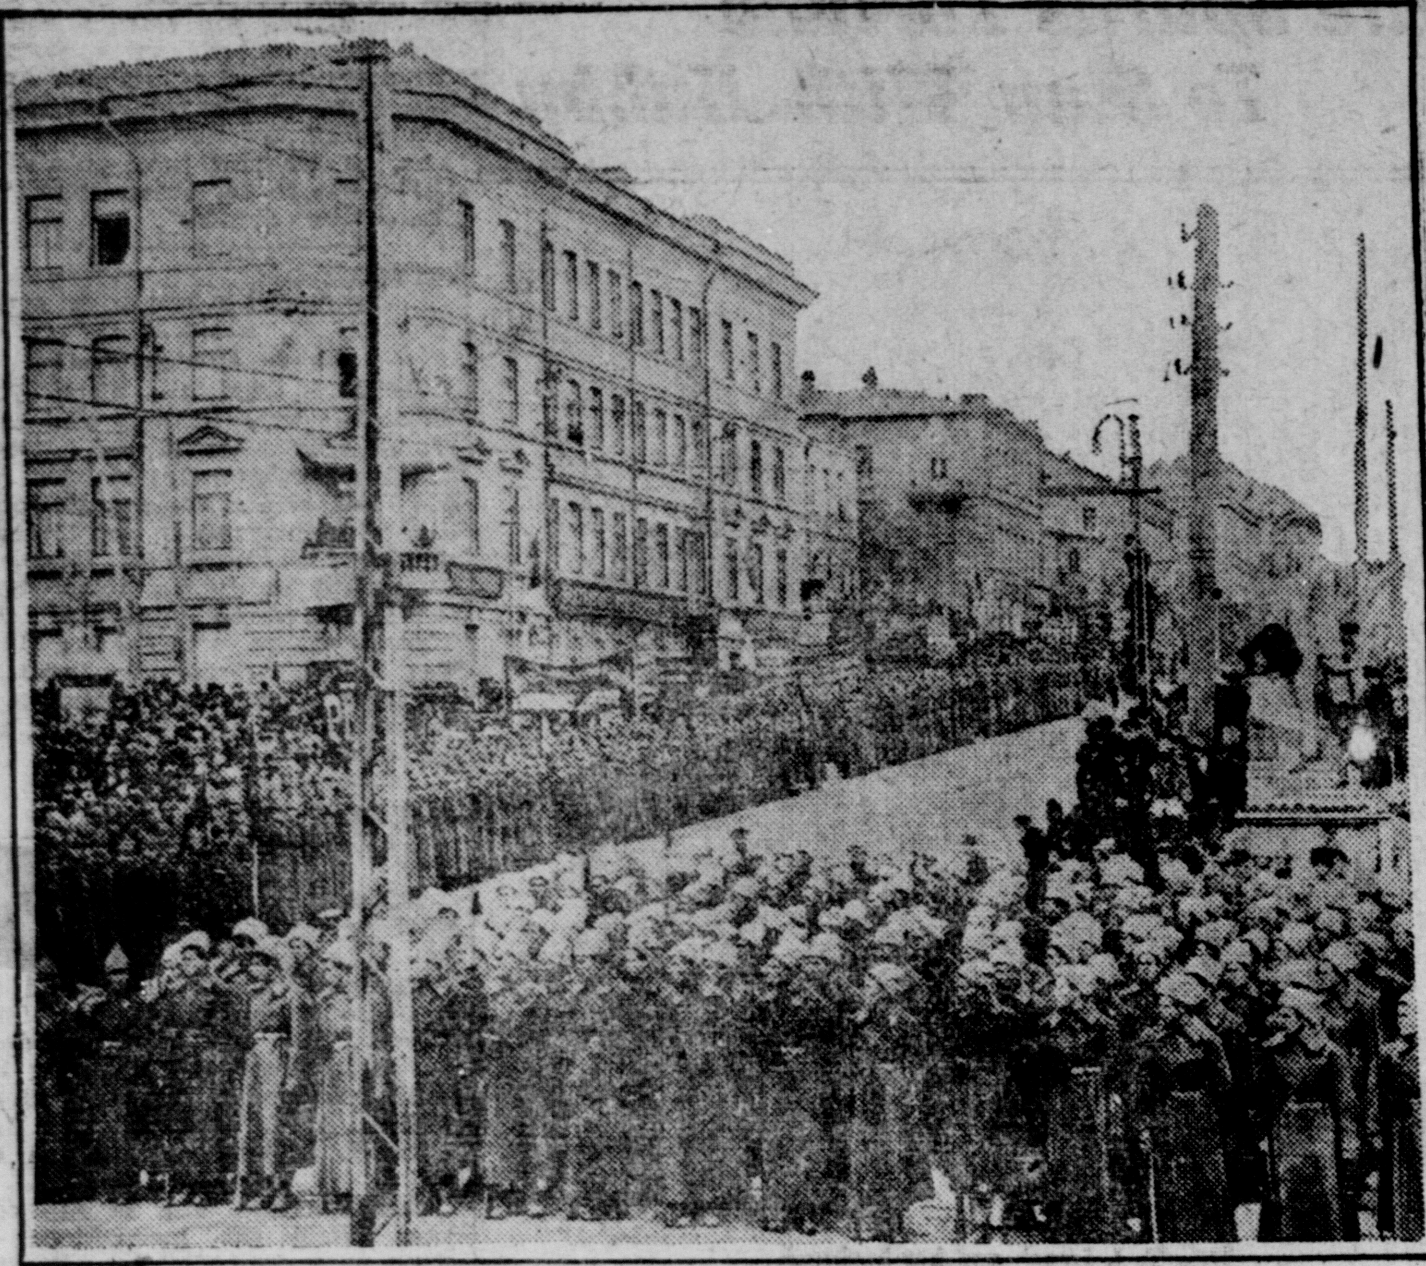

The advertisements show you how to save money—and steps—and time. Watch them carefully.

Tulsa Commission Plans Broadening of City Streets

(By the Associated Press)

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 15.—Widening of streets and avenues in the business district is under way here under the direction of the city commission and the city plan commission.

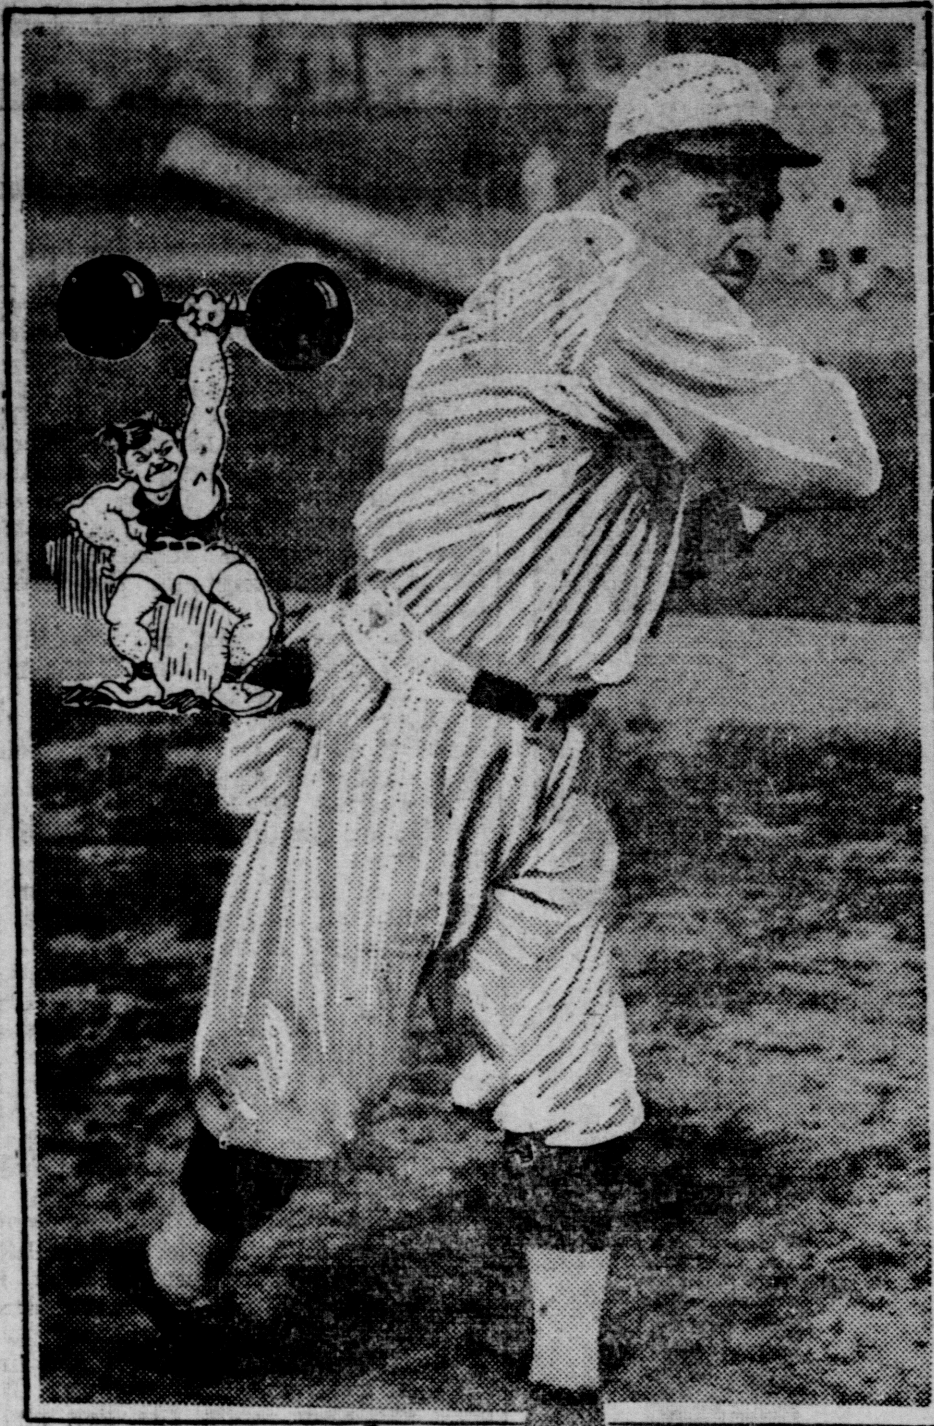

The work was first started at the suggestion of the real estate exchange when it became apparent that many downtown streets were too narrow for the recent growth of traffic. Since the appointment of the city plan commission last summer the work has been pushed.

A traffic survey was made recently and is being used as a basis for the work. Streets now being widened include Boston and Seventh, and work on others is scheduled to start soon.

HAITI PLANNING NEW IMPROVEMENT

Several Projects Await Action of Government to Secure Funds.

(By the Associated Press)

PORT-AU-PRINCE.—As a result of the passage of an extraordinary credit of $300,000 by the Haitian Council of State, the Department of Public Works will usher in 1922 with a vigorous campaign for the development of Haiti. Several projects of vital importance have been waiting for months for the necessary funds, and all of these will receive a considerable impetus through the action of the Council of State, a body of 21 Haitians representing as many sections of the island. The realization of the Haitian Loan of $16,000,000 made it possible to vote the credit, for the revenues of Haiti are inadequate.

Foremost among the projects that have been planned by Commander Archibald L. Parsons, Chief of the Department of Public Works, who was detailed for that post from the Corps of Civil Engineers of the United States Navy, are road building; bridging of important streams that in the rainy season have been impassable; detailed studies for irrigation work in the Artibonite, Archaie, Cul-de-Sac and Leogane Plains; the installation of new copper wire and general improvement of Haiti's telegraph and telephone systems, and the construction of new automatic lighthouses and harbor improvements.

The construction of the long-projected road through the interior of Haiti to link up with the Santo Domingo road system will open up Haiti's most isolated section to trade. The detailed study necessary to the actual irrigation of the plains promise to make approximately 300,000 acres of parched lands productive areas in the near future. The beginning of work on the other projects will go far toward furthering the economic development of this nation.

The timely action of the Council of States has also made it possible for the ten treaty engineers, of whom nine are officers of the Civil Engineers Corps of the Navy, to finish all preparations and carry their work to completion before the rainy season sets in. Of the total credit $55,000 has been made available for the purchase of tools and material and already vessels are on their way to Haiti with the bulk of these supplies. Construction work on the interior road that will link the two republics, with foundations for a bridge across the Artibonite, Haiti's largest river, was voted $15,000. The sum of $20,000 was set aside for detailed studies of irrigation and road projects, and $30,000 for the rehabilitation of the telegraph and telephone services. For bridge work there was voted $77,000, and for aids to navigation $28,000, including both lighthouses and wharve construction.

The expenditure of this sum will put money into circulation in Haiti's poorest sections, give work to thousands who are now suffering from irregular employment, and promote trade and intercourse. Commander Parsons' program for the various projects was worked out months ago, and work will be under way by February first.

Guards Show Speed in Mobilizing for Walton Inaugural

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 15.—Within five hours after mobilization orders had been issued January 8 by Gov. J. C. Walton for the period of his inaugural celebration, there were 1,000 national guardsmen from neighboring posts on duty in this city, according to Adj. Gen. Charles F. Barrett.

The demobilization on January 11 took place with "equal alacrity," General Barrett said.

"Prompt mobilization is one of the distinguishing features of the Oklahoma national guard," the general declared. He stated that the state's two regiments of infantry hold the national guard record for the United States in rapidity of getting into action.

When the two regiments were called to duty for the coal strike of 1919, according to the adjutant general, 2,200 men were on duty at scattered posts in six different counties in the coal fields within twenty-four hours. This is the record for rapid mobilization of national guard forces, he said. The troops so rapidly mobilized went to their posts equipped for immediate field service, he added.

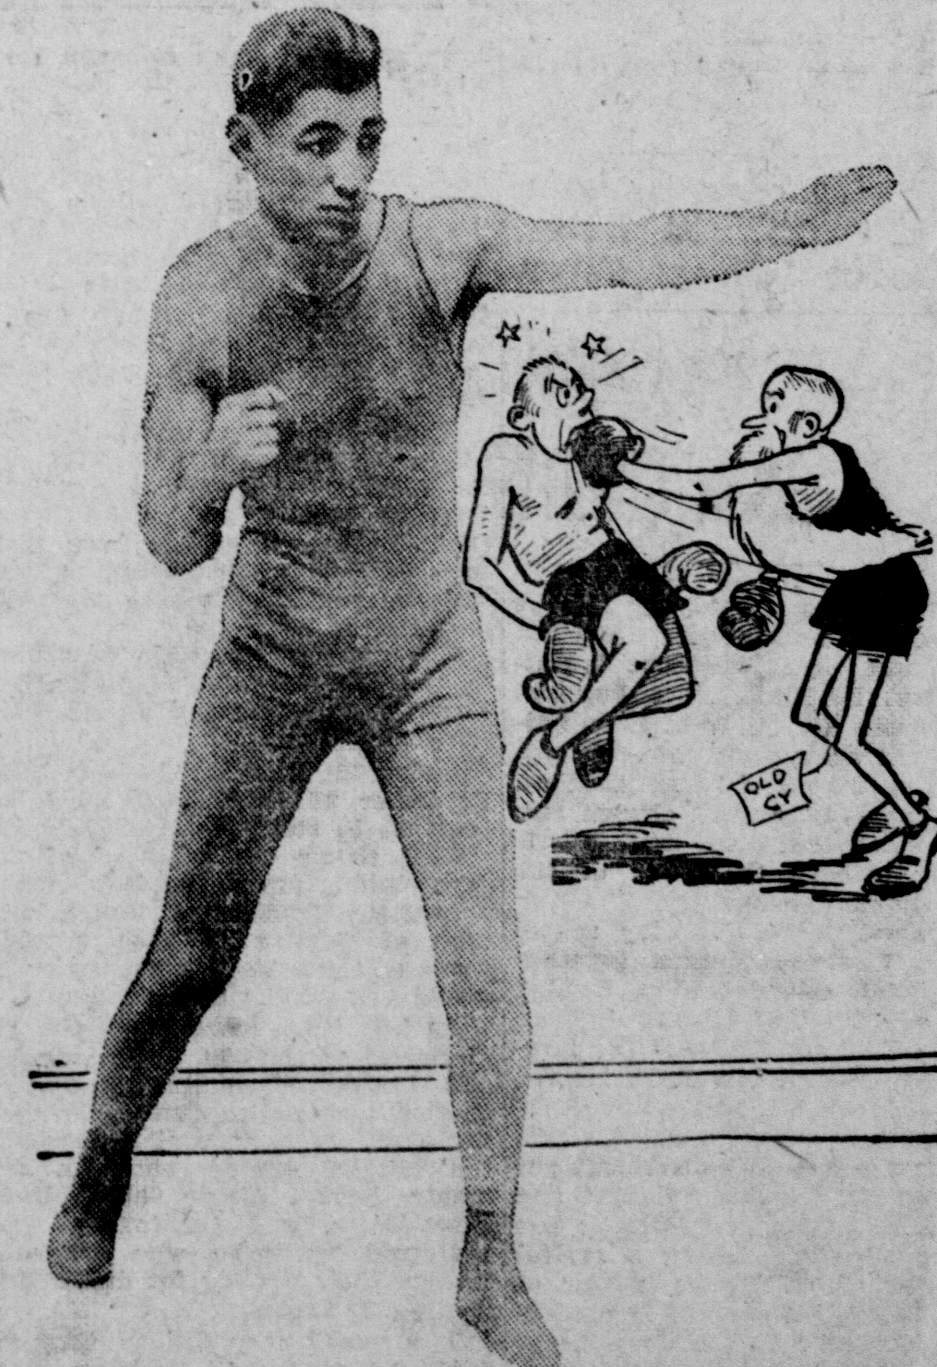

"This same efficiency is carried out each year at the annual training camps," General Barrett added. "But one day is allowed for the gathering of troops from all over the state at Fort Sill and the making of camp preparatory for the beginning of training duties the next morning."

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 14.—Frank Robinson, former deputy sheriff of Nueces county, and three other defendants charged with the killing of Fred Roberts, ranch owner last October, were acquitted late today after the jury had deliberated fifty hours, according to a telephone message tonight from Laredo where the trial was held.

Roberts was killed as he sat in an automobile following an argument with Robinson. The Ku Klux Klan issue was injected into the trial. All of the defendants are said to be opposed to the Klan and the political party in power in Nueces county.

JACKSON LOSES BIGGEST BOUT TO "CY"

Willie Jackson in action.

The recent beating at the hands of the youthful Johnny Shugrue meant more than a defeat to Willie Jackson, busy lightweight and once reckoned as a probable successor to the title held by Benny Leonard. It meant the start on the long journey all fighters must some day take to the city of Oblivion. And those close to Jackson believe that psychology helped as much as Shugrue's punches to defeat Jackson. It was Willie's first bout in his long career without the services of Doc Bagley, his manager. They broke a few weeks ago. Jackson made last minute effort to get Bagley in his corner and when the attempt failed felt that his luck had left him.

EIGHT IMMERSSED SUNDAY BY BAPTISTS OF COUNTY

Yesterday was a good day for the Baptists. The waters were disturbed by at least three different baptizings. Rev. R. E. L. Ford baptized eight people at the West Side Mission in the afternoon; Rev. Thomas Coffee, pastor at Vanoss, baptized two at the First Baptist church in the afternoon; and Rev. Morris baptized one at the close of the service Sunday evening.

The First Baptist Sunday school and the Westside Mission together had a total attendance in Sunday school of 529. The Mission had an attendance of 94, which is the largest in its history. Mr. J. E. Harris, the superintendent, states that they will have 150 within a short while. They have had many conversions over there since the mission started and they expect several more during this week as they are having a revival there. Rev. C. C. Morris, pastor of the First Baptist church, is preaching there each night this week, the services beginning at 7:15. The public is cordially invited to all the services there during the week.

Missouri Egg-Laying Contest.

For twelve years the Poultry Experiment station at Mountain Grove, Mo., has been conducting year-long egg laying contests, it having been one of the first to inaugurate an officially conducted competition. During these years, Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Leghorns, R. I. Reds, Anconas and R. I. Whites have carried off individual and pen records with high scores scattered quite impartially among all the breeds contesting.

This year a pen of five S. C. White Leghorns carried off the banner for pen production with an average of 256.4 eggs per hen, the highest score in this pen being 268 eggs and the lowest 249.

A Barred Rock hen carried off individual honors with a score of 293 eggs.

Out of a total of 300 hens in the contest, 134 made records of 200 eggs per hen.

The ten high hens for the year, producing from 268 to 293 eggs per hen, included Barred Rocks, White Wyandottes, S. C. Anconas, and S. C. White Leghorns. The ten high pens included all of these and Rhode Island Whites in addition, the lowest pen average in this group being 224 eggs per hen.

All pens were fed alike. The mash used was made up in the following proportions: 25 pounds bran, 25 pounds shorts, 30 pounds corn meal, 10 pounds ground oats, 12 pounds beef scraps and 1-1/2 pounds fine salt. A moistened mash was fed each morning while the dry mash was kept in hoppers all the time accessible.

Grain feed consisted of a mixture of 50 pounds cracked corn and 50 pounds whole wheat, most of which was given in the evening and the birds allowed to eat all they wanted. An average of 40.9 pounds of grain each was consumed by the total number of hens, and an average of 41.6 pounds of mash. The average cost of feed per hen for the year was $1.43, which expenses increased to $1.75 per hen by added cost of straw for litter, oyster shells and egg shipping cases.

The sale of eggs at an average price of 30 cents per dozen, averaged $4.80 per hen, leaving a net profit of $2.05 per hen above all producing costs, except labor. All feed was bought on the local retail market.

The one thing in this contest that could not be profitably duplicated on almost any farm was the small pen system, but the farm has something that will heavily counterbalance that in abundance of grassy range.

In Nebraska's laying contest the hens are kept in flocks of about 100 hens each with a fenced, grassy range, among large trees, of a half acre for each flock. Under these practically farm range conditions hens last year averaged 161 eggs per hen. Most of Missouri's contestants have had years of experience in breeding up their flocks, while many of Nebraska's are just beginning to develop the laying capacity of their birds.—Nebraska Farmer.

Produce Market Bulletins
Chicago, Ill., Jan. 13.
The United States Department of Agriculture in its preliminary report shows stocks of butter and eggs in cold storage January 1 as follows:

Butter
1922 ----- 48,412,000 lbs.
1923 ----- 26,881,000 lbs.
Shortage ----- 21,531,000 lbs.

Eggs
1922 ----- 889,000 cases
1923 ----- 1,302,000 cases
Excess ----- 413,000 cases

Deliveries of cream are gradually increasing, as farmers are finding it more profitable to have their cows freshen in the fall and early winter.

Statistically, the butter market has been very firm, but actually there has been a weak undertone, especially over the holidays. With the publication of the storage holdings and steady withdrawals, the market has taken a little better turn, without much actual change in quotations, but dealers view the market situation with more confidence.

There has been a marked falling off in the movement of poultry, but the feeding stations of the country were so well filled at Christmas that the carry-over has been more than sufficient for current needs and the surplus has been placed in storage for later use.

The comparative stocks of poultry in the four large centers, Chicago, New York, Boston and Philadelphia, were as follows:

January 11, 1922.....76,216,000 lbs.
December 30, 1922.....61,654,000 lbs.
Increase in storage.....14,562,000 lbs.

This shows the value of modern cold storage facilities, which permit the handling of such a large crop of poultry in such a short space of time. More even marketing would benefit the entire industry.

At this time, many producers are giving some thought to the number and breeds of poultry in which they will specialize during the coming year. As a general proposition, the heavier breeds, such as Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, Wyandottes, and Orpingtons are preferred by those who are milk feeding their poultry for discrimination family trade.

The weather conditions throughout the producing sections have been favorable for an increased production of eggs, and prices have gradually worked lower on all the larger markets. As the volume reaching the markets of the country increases, further declines may be expected.

Wife Spurns Fortune To Stay With Hubby

Mrs. T. J. Lynch and her husband.

(By Central Press)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars has been weighed in the balance and found wanting.

That was when it was outweighed by the love of a dashing young husband.

Mrs. T. J. Lynch is the wife who did the weighing and made the momentous decision. T. J. Lynch is the quarter million dollar spouse.

Lynch, a student at the University of California, met his future wife at a school affair. He possessed little of the world's goods, but that mattered not, for it was a case of love at first sight.

They eloped.

Frederick Grover, millionaire California rancher and stepfather of the girl, and his wife, her mother, followed the pair. The irate foster parent either persuaded or compelled the girl to leave her husband and return to her mother.

Lynch called at the home of his bride, demanding to see her. He met with rebuff at the hands of Grover. But that didn't stop him. He went to law.

Obtaining a warrant for Grover, charging that he kidnapped the girl wife and threatened to kill him if he attempted to rescue her. The warrant never was served. Instead Capt. Walter J. Hunter of the district attorney's investigating staff called a conference of all concerned.

They met in the courthouse and the question was put squarely up to Mrs. Lynch. She was told she had a right to leave her parents if she so desired and the law would protect her.

Then step-papa Grover stepped to the fore.

"If you decide to go with this young man you will be cut off from an inheritance of $250,000 immediately after," he said.

Mrs. Lynch smiled and answered unhesitatingly:

"All that I ask is to go with the man I love."

TIGERS SET FOR TWO GAMES HERE

Alva Rangers Scheduled for Dual Tilt With Local Cagers.

East Central Tigers were ready tonight for a series of two games with Alva Rangers of the Alva State Teachers college, the first game beginning at 7:30 in the college gym.

The team returned yesterday from Durant after receiving two severe drubbings at the hands of Southeastern Savages, the fourth and fifth defeats of the year. East Central has won but one game and Coaches Thompson and Milam tonight expected the tide to turn in favor of Tigers.

Alva Rangers come fresh from a series of two victories over Phillips University on the Alva court. Phillips nosed out Tigers at Phillips recently in two games, this giving Alva considerably the best of the dope.

In Sunday's issue of the News it was erroneously stated that the Tigers had defeated the Southwestern Savages last Friday night 42 to 22. It was just the opposite. The second game, played Saturday night, was 29 to 20 for the Savages.

Tigers were handicapped because of the fact that they were forced to play in a crowded court, with a very low ceiling. Thompson said his men would have a better advantage on the home court in February when the Savages come here for two games.

After playing Rangers here Monday and Tuesday night, Tigers leave for Oklahoma City and will play there Wednesday, play at Tonkawa on Thursday and Friday, Chilocco Indians on Saturday and Alva Rangers at Alva on Monday and Tuesday, a week from the games starting tonight with Alva here.

Hargis Appointed New Custodian of Confederate Hall

Capt. Sam Hargis of Ada has been appointed Custodian of the Confederate Memorial hall at the state capitol. Gov. Walton is anxious that this department be given special attention and that before it is too late many more mementoes of the historic days of sixty years ago be collected and preserved for future generations, and the new appointee is well qualified to do this. However, Capt. Hargis says his heart is with Ada, this is his home and he will continue to hold his voting residence here.

Capt. Hargis requests that any who have relics of any kind connected with the civil war turn them in that they may be preserved as part of the state collection.

The wrestling match scheduled to take place between Capt. Hargis and a Union veteran during the inaugural festivities did not materialize, due to the fact that the union man did not appear when the event was called.

Rent Problem is Solved When One Spool Thread Paid

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN.—What to do when the rent comes around puzzled the tenant of a seven-room house at Celle, Westphalia, when he was short of money, until he happened to thing of several spools of sewing-machine thread left on hand from purchases made before the war.

The tenant pays 900 mark annually for the house and the quarter's rent amounted to 225. His offer to pay the landlord with one spool of thread was accepted, the tenant receiving 10 marks cash in change since this thread now sells for 235 marks a spool. Before the war, the spools cost him 30 pfennings each.

A federal law limits the prices that may be charged for rent; thread follows the dollar rate of exchange.

TAKE SALTS IF STOMACH ISN'T ACTING RIGHT

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather ferments, the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyperacidity meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten decays in the stomach much like garbage sores in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest; we belch up gas; we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink it while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to help neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used for many stomach disorders with excellent results.—Adv.

RANGER CAPTAIN TAKES CHARGES BEFORE COURT

(By the Associated Press)

DALLAS, Jan. 15.—Capt. R. D. Shumate, Texas Ranger, who has in his custody Miss Naomi Boucher and her brothers, Bernard and Horace, held under charges of connection with the murder last November of Grady Skipworth at Waco, was summoned to appear today before the Dallas county grand jury. It is understood he will take a Dallas man with him before the investigating body. Whether the summons was connected with the Skipworth murder could not be learned.

HOUSTON JUDGE DEMANDS INVESTIGATION OF FLOGGING

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 15.—In scathing terms, Judge C. W. Robinson in criminal district court this morning instructed the grand jury to cease investigation into "petty thievery and burglary" and devote its whole attention to running down those responsible for the whipping of Mrs. A. H. Harrison and R. A. Armand, at Goose Creek ten days ago.

Mrs. Harrison was in the court room while the instructions were given and immediately afterwards was taken into the jury room.

GRAND JURY STARTS GRIND

in the primary campaign for the office of district judge, and I ask that you look into this thoroughly and determine how much was spent, and if the law was violated in this regard to indict.

The law further provides that any candidate in a primary who has a campaign committee that handles money that it is the duty of that campaign committee within ten days after the primary election to file a full and complete report showing all expenditures, and in case any chairman, secretary, treasurer or other person fails and refuses to sign and swear to such report as provided herein shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; and if you find that such a condition as that occurred in this county you will indict.

You are further instructed that a corporation has no right through its officers, or superintendents to attempt by electioneering or otherwise to influence the vote of any employee of such corporation and in case such happened in this county you will indict.

You are further instructed that if any person receives any promise, money or anything of value to work for any candidate that the same is a violation of law.

Registration Law.

You are further instructed that it has been called to my attention that county registrars made it difficult for the voters to register when the law contemplates that registrars exert their effort in behalf of the voters. The law commands them in case of doubt about the right of an applicant to register to administer them an oath, notwithstanding this fact it has been called to my attention that voters were chased backward and forward to Ada to make these affidavits before a Notary Public at an expense that some were not able to stand. I admonish you that the right of franchise should not be thus lightly considered, and request you to look into this and if the law has been violated to indict. Refusing one the right to register and therefore the right to vote is a grave wrong.

City Officials.

It has been further called to my attention that a certain officer in the City of Ada entered into an agreement with representatives of the American Legion whereby he agreed to appoint some member of the American Legion, to be named by said Legion, as chief of police in case he was elected, and that in pursuance to said contract with the American Legion that a working force of about forty men was organized about ten o'clock on the day of the general city election and studiously devoted themselves to securing votes for this officer under the promise that some member of the Legion would be selected as Chief of Police; and it has further been brought to my attention that the same officer promised two other men that in case they would use their influence to securing him votes that he would make them Chief of Police, and made various and sundry other promises to other parties that he would give them offices, positions and employment.

The State statute makes it a violation of the criminal law to make any such promises, and the Charter of the City of Ada prohibits any such promises and make it a ground for removal from office. The Charter of the City of Ada further provides that in addition to the official oath provided by the Constitution that all City Commissioners shall take the additional oath that they have made no promises directly or indirectly to give anyone employment as a officer or employee.

Therefore if you find upon investigation that any officer of the City of Ada entered into agreements whereby he promised directly or indirectly any office or any employment for the purpose of securing votes you will indict him under the statute that prohibits such promises, and if you find that such officer subscribed to an oath that he made no such promises when in fact he did you will also indict him for perjury; and if you find he is guilty of making illegal promises or is guilty of swearing to a false oath, then it is within your power to recommend that he be removed from office, and you will exercise your judgment as to whether or not you will exercise your judgment as to whether or not you will make such recommendation.

In this connection you are admonished that the right of franchise is too sacred a thing to be lied out of, and if you find that anyone has made promises that they intended to fulfill or did not intend to fulfill and thereby induced people to part with their vote, that, in the judgment of the court, is one of the most heinous offenses that could be committed because it strikes at the very fundamental of government and seeks to destroy the only effective instrument that the citizen has for the protection of his liberties and his rights, and the importance of which cannot be over estimated; but in the consideration of this question I admonish you to be very careful not to allow your prejudice, individual opinion or predisposition to influence or control you in anyway in your actions upon this important

"Lumber Queen" Charged With Slaying Husband

Mrs. Lillian Knox.

(By Central Press)
BEAUMONT, Tex., Jan. 12.—"Ordered for the occasion."

Will that phrase prove the key which will open the portals of mystery surrounding the death of Hiram Knox, millionaire Texas lumberman, found dead in his "modern castle" here on Christmas morning with a bullet in his head?

To detectives investigating the mysterious death this phrase is of the utmost significance. It is the utterance of the express agent at Hemphill, Texas.

The agent told investigators that a man named Carson called at the office on the morning that the body was found for a parcel addressed to Mrs. Lillian Knox, widow of the slain man.

He is said to have told the agent that the contents of the package were "ordered for the occasion."

Police say the package may have contained a black dress—a mourning gown.

But on the contrary if the law has been violated do not allow a lack of courage to divert you from your plain path of mandatory duty.

Prohibition Law.

A glance at the criminal docket at the present and past years reveals the fact that eighty per cent of the crimes on the criminal docket in Pontotoc county are traceable directly to whiskey.

The people have declared against whiskey and irrespective of your individual views you are bound to respond to your oath of office and do all in your power to rid this county of this awful traffic, and I ask you to make a thorough and clean sweeping investigation of all violations of the prohibition law of the State of Oklahoma.

Larceny.

One of the most contemptible conditions in the county is the continuous breach of the law against larceny. Petty thieves seem to abound in this county and this city. We are unable to keep chairs or light globes in the court house, and that condition prevails in every office building in this town, and among all of the contemptible dirty criminal that infect our land it is the little petty sneaking thief, and I beseech you to give special attention to this class of crime and indict if the larceny is nothing more than a pencil.

Libel and Slander.

The freedom of speech and the freedom of the press is much appreciated by the citizenship of this Nation, and a right of great importance, but this right is being grossly abused, and especially in Oklahoma, and in Ada.

We are a city of schools and churches; institutions whose purpose it is to develop boys and girls of character, and as long as character and good names can be assaulted with impunity and without any fear of punishment character is cheapened, and good names are cheapened, and the accomplishment sought by the endeavor of the high citizenship of the country is thwarted by the indiscriminate charges of immorality and crime. In fact it has become so alarming that the entering of a hotly contested political campaign means a sacrifice of your name and reputation, and if a check is not placed somewhere the time will be when character and reputation is of but little value; and in order to augment the purposes of our institutions of learning and the churches to furnish the world men and women of character it becomes our duty as citizens to bridge the tongues of the slanderer and libeler.

The women, our mothers and sisters, have been invited into the political arena and have accepted the invitation, and there has developed some Carry Nation types that seem to be forgetful that the loftiness of womanhood was brought about by her purity and her spirit of justice, and we feel that the good women of this county are entitled to protection against the professional slanderer among the women voters, and that the good mothers, wives and sisters should be protected against one who would forget the lofty purity of woman and engage herself in scattering and diffusing slander and the spirit of hatred in the land. Her's is a mission of love and justice and may it ever be so, and if

At the time the body was discovered police were inclined to believe that the lumberman's death was due to suicide, for beside the body were found notes which tended to show that he had taken his own life.

But now authorities say these notes and the signatures of the dead man thereon are forgeries.

Mrs. Knox, known throughout the south as the "Texas Lumber Queen" now resides behind the barred doors of the county jail, charged with the murder of her husband.

With further investigation came the knowledge of the package which came to Hemphill addressed to Mrs. Knox. The revelation by the expressman.

Now investigators are following the latest clue in the hope that the contents of the mysterious package—"ordered for the occasion"—either will result in the exoneration or conviction of Mrs. Knox.

You will indict some of the forked tongued women who do not hesitate to make any kind of a charge against anybody it will have a good effect upon the conditions in this town and county.

I know of no law that needs the attention of the courts more than the law of libel and slander, and if you find that any one has committed libel or slander I most respectfully urge that you unhesitatingly indict.

Public Officers.

Statements can be heard on every side that this officer or that officer is crooked. We solicit the co-operation of all those who have made these statements to make their information known and if you can find any evidence of any crookedness on the part of a public officer the importance of an indictment in such a case cannot be over estimated, and of all deplorable conditions the most deplorable is dishonest public officials and you will thoroughly investigate every public officer in this county.

It is your duty to aid and assist the County Attorney in gathering all the evidence you can of any violation of law throughout the county and he will be present with you and advise you upon the law, but he has no right to advise you and will not attempt to do so upon any question except the law, and when you go to vote upon the guilt or innocence of any case you have investigated no one is entitled to be present except yourselves.

I want to further admonish you that in case any party or parties seek to lobby or influence you during your deliberations or before you enter upon your duties and attempt to influence you in any way upon your actions in any case that you report the matter at once to me and I shall deem it my duty to place them where you will not be annoyed any more with them during your service.

Discharge your duty with courage and fidelity without prejudice or partisan feeling and you will have rendered an honest beneficial service to the citizenship of this county.

You are instructed that it requires nine of your number to return an indictment.

None of the men first called to serve were stricken from the list. All proved qualified to serve under the challenge of District Judge J.W. Bolen. Members of the grand jury were questioned on point of their affiliation with secret orders in the county or state and would influence their deliberation on evidence brought before them. None admitted that they were members of the "new order" and that they were not influenced by their knowledge of it.

Walter Ford was named foreman of the jury. A clerk to record the minutes of matters brought before the grand jury will be named from the jury, according to instructions of Judge Bolen.

Following are members of the grand jury: Mount Gilmore, W. S. Richardson, T. H. Smith, S. H. Alley, W. T. Henniger, T. W. Bean, Walter Ford (foreman), E. H. MacKendree, C. J. High, C. R. Watson, W. J. Aycock and John Morper.

COURT AFFIRMS CASES ON APPEAL

Two Negroes Must Serve Seven Years as Result of Court Decision.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 15. — Two alleged negro run-runners who were to have defied a posse of officers on the Joplin, Mo.-Muskegon road near Welch, Okla., in April, 1918, and shot and wounded Lee Webb, sheriff of Craig county, will serve seven years each in the penitentiary as the result of a decision by the state criminal court of appeals handed down today.

The negroes were Grant Smith and Alex Sutgrave.

The sheriff was with a posse formed by the United States Marshal for the district to arrest the negroes when it was reported they were on their way into the state from Joplin, according to the review of the case.

The officers, it was said, lined themselves across the road and called on the negroes' automobile to halt. The order was obeyed, but when it was announced the posse was made up of officers, it was alleged, two shots were fired from the car, the first wounding Webb.

After a further exchange of shots the motor car sped away but bullet holes in its radiator and was later found in a garage at Vinita. The decision was the first written by Justice Matson since his election as presiding justice of the appellate court.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 15. — Willie Woods, convicted of a cattle theft in McCurtain county, will not be saved from serving an eight-year term in the penitentiary on the plea that the information by which the charge was originally brought against him did not closely describe the cattle he was alleged to have stolen.

In an opinion of the high court handed down today it was stated that Woods stole five cows. The charging information, according to the reviewer, described the cattle as "five cows, a better description of the cows being to this informant unknown." It was signed by C. D. Wilkerson, county attorney.

Woods, defense held that a "fatal variation" crept into the case when the owner of the cows, Morris Johnson, described them each as to color, brand, and distinctive marks, when he went on the witness stand. The appellate court held there was "no essential difference between the information and the proof." Woods was sentenced Feb. 8, 1921.

Paw allus pours his coffee
In his saucer, when he drinks.
But mother, she's just horrified
And tells him what she thinks.
A great big man, like he is,
Should surely ought to know.
'At if coffee is too hot
He ought to drink it slow.
And men w'en we have company,
Maw makes paw mad as sin
By tellin' him, "don't use your knife."

Or tuck your napkin in,
Underneath your collar.
'Cause that aint etiquette."
And tells him how to eat his soup
Like s'f paw never did.

Some folks make their joys mere incidents and their sorrows great events.

An insurance company has proposed a policy for happy marriages. No doubt sooner or later one of the contracting parties will want to cash in on that policy.

Our newspapers will make mistakes occasionally, but it isn't often that they forecast like this one. We quote:

"Our esteemed fellow citizen, Abner Brown, will go to the hospital tomorrow to be operated on for appendicitis. He will leave a wife and two children."

It is reported that "Baby" Poe was seen recently buying a jar of "Sta-Comb," and "laid out" last night till after ten o'clock. It was a sad shock to friends.

Small Pox Cases Found in County by Health Officer

Eight cases of smallpox were quarantined in Pontotoc county last week, according to the announcement of Dr. J. A. Deen, county health officer.

These cases, five in two families at Fitzhugh, three in three families near Chism and one case at Frisco, are well under control of county health officers and it is thought that there will be little danger of an epidemic from this dreaded disease.

All cases are under the supervision of county health officials.
